A stone bust of a bearded man's head, possibly made of terracotta or a similar material, is mounted on a black cylindrical stand. The bust is positioned in the center of the frame, set against a blurred background of a living room. The room features a light-colored sofa with a textured throw blanket, a wooden coffee table, and a window with sheer curtains in the background. The lighting is warm and soft, highlighting the texture of the stone.

Here we have a number of decorative items in various sections & categories with different materials.
